

Over the past twenty plus years, Cass McCombs has journeyed a singular path as an uncompromising song-carver, guitarist and singer.

Along with the finest squadron of collaborators and bandmates, his music travels gracefully over seemingly contradictory terrain, from infectious guitar riffage to intensely personal lyricism.

In 2024, 4AD reissued his first three groundbreaking albums. In September, Domino Records released a lost album from the same period, Seed Cake On Leap Year.

Cass lives in New York City and is currently working on new recordings.
